

"Our rage is our strength – feminist struggle now!"

We will take this rage to the streets again on March 8, 2024.

We are angry about the unpaid care and domestic work we do, about wage differences, about feminicides, murders of FLINTA* that are presented as relationship drama.

We are angry about violence against us and our friends worldwide.

We are angry about restrictive legislation about our bodies and norms that deny our identities.

We are angry about austerity policies in the education, health, and social sectors.

We are angry about role models, beauty ideals and social expectations that oppress us, sexualize us, and make us invisible.

We are angry that we and our friends are suffering more from the climate crisis, isolationist policies, poverty in old age and wars.

We want a good life for everyone, where we can be who we are. We are fighting for a society based on solidarity in which we collectively take care of each other. A society without exploitation of people and nature; a society that is oriented towards needs and requirements and not profit. We fight for our spaces and our safety. We fight for our voices to be heard and for us to be believed. We fight hand in hand with our friends worldwide. Together we stand up and rebel against patriarchal domination.

Let's unite to stand up against the capitalist isolation, war and crisis and show that we are many!

Come to the demonstration on March 8, starting at 3 pm at Holzmarkt. The demonstration will include a FLINTA*-only block and a more relaxed family block with childcare.

We look forward to seeing you! See you on the streets!

FLINTA* stands for women, lesbians, inter-, non-binary, and trans people.
